

UPDATE

August 5, 2019

Our negotiating team and a federal mediator have been working since May 2019 to negotiate in good faith with the union representing our employees. Our company has offered improvements in wages and is discussing numerous other issues covered by our collective bargaining agreement. This is a short period of time to negotiate a complex labor agreement and we remain committed to negotiating in good faith with the help of a federal mediator. We hope that union members will act lawfully as they exercise their right to demonstrate or protest.